

Argyll and Bute—a great placeto live, work and viand

Becominga Councillor

Yourguideto standingfor electionin Argyll and Bute

Armsof Argyll and Bute Council

The Corporate Arms of Argyll and Bute Council reflect

Localgovernmentin Argyll and Bute—an introduction

Argyll and Bute is one of Scotland's 32 local authorities. Later in this guide, you can find out more about Argyll and Bute's unique characteristics, its opportunities and challenge

LocalGovernmentMulti-memberWardsin ArgyllandBute,January2022

Workingwith others in a multi-memberward in your local area is a keyfeature of being a councillor.

A simpleprincipleappliesto all councillors a multi-memberward:

Councilward details for Argyll and Bute local authority area:

WardNo.	WardName	No. of Councillors	AreasCoverednclude:
1	SouthKintyre	3	CampbeltownEast Kintyre,TheLaggan, Southend
2	Kintyreandthe Islands	3	Colonsay, East Kintyre, Gighalay, Jura, SouthKnapdale,Tarbert and SkipnessWest Kintyre
3	Mid Argyll	3	Ardrishaig,Craignish, Dunadd, Furnace, Inveraray,Lochgilphead,North Knapdale, SouthKnapdale,WestLochfyne

About Argyll and Bute

Geography

Argyll and Bute is bordered by the urban areas of Helensburgh and Dunoon along the Clyde, with Loch Lomondto the East, the Mull of Kintyreto the south, Atlantic Islandsto the west, and the Soundof Mull and Appinto the north.

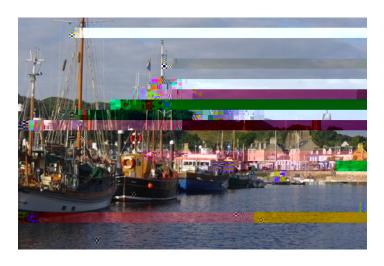

Thearea'spopulation of 86,260 (2018) is spreadacrost the second argest local authority area in Scotland covering a land area of 690,946 hectares. It has the fifth sparses population density of the 32 Scottish local authorities, with an average population density of just 0.12 persons per hectare. This compare to a Scottish average of 0.70 persons per hectare. Population growth is a priority for the council and for its community planning partners.

17% of Argyll and Bute's population live on islanta 7% live in settlements of 3,000 or more people; conversely 47.2% of the population live in settlements smaller than 3,000 people, or outwith settlements altogether. 80% live within one kilometre of the coast.

Argyll and Bute has 23 inhabited islands, including Bute, Islay, Jura, Mull, Iona, Coll and Tiree, more than anyother local authorityin Scotland. The area is also home to several long sealochs, which bisect the landscape. The physical geography of the area does impact development of the road network and leads to high levels of reliance on ferries for travel.

Theimportance of the natural environment is indicated by the 121 Sites of Specia Scientific Interest that have been designated ithin the area. Combined these coveral most 10% of Argylland Bute's land area.

Economyand Employment

Argyll and Bute's economy is predominantly service based. Over 87% of employee jobs in the area are provided within the service sector (Office Busines Registerand Employment Survey 2016).

ArgyllandButehasrelativelyhighlevels of employment in agriculture and fishing, and low levels of employment in manufacturing and finance.

Unemploymentrates in Argylland Bute are below the national average although, because of the high levels of seasonal employment in the area, rates vary according to time of year.

GVA (Gross Value Added) provides a measure of the all economic well-being of an area GVA figures show that Argylland Bute's economy is performing less strongly that the Scottishaverage.

Because f the rural nature of the area, the pattern of employment in Argylland Bute is different to the Scottishaverage Economies with high dependence or seasonal ndustries, such as tourism, agriculture, forestry and fishing, face many challenges. Workers may be presented with only a small window of time to make their income for the entire year. As a result, some people will take multiple jobs during the summer period to maximize their income terratively, workers look for other jobs when the "season" is over. Many opt to commute toother areas to seek employment and reap the benefits of higher earnings. These types of economies are unstable as the impact of the weather plays

Education

Educational attainment in Argyll and Bute is above the national average in a number of measures and currently, on average 5% per cent of schoolleavers in Argylland Bute achieve a positive and sustained destination. The council halse aspiration to ensure that Argyll and Bute is the best place in Scotland for our children to grow up and has set out an Education Vision and Strategy, Our Children, Their Future, to ensure it responds effectively to the changing national and local policy contexts. In doing so, it will ensure the future delivery of educations ervices which support children, young people and communities across Argyll and Bute to achieve the best possible outcomes. This vision will through the following sixkey objectives:

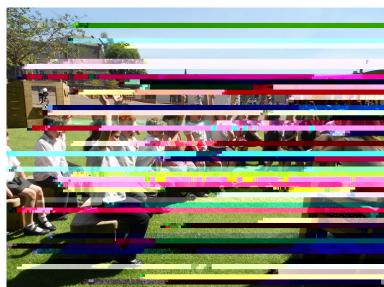

•

•

•

•

•

Workingtogether—planningfor success

Securing a vibrant future for all people and communities in Argyll and Bute is very much a collective effort. Argyll and Bute Council is a key part of the Argyll and Bute Community PlanningPartnership(CPP) a collective of publicagencies and third sector organisations working together to achieve an overall strategic objective:

Theseoutcomesare in line with national priorities and will also see Argylland Bute contributing to the national outcomes for Scotland.

Agreeing these six long term outcomes requires significant commitment and effort from all community planningpartners and indeed the whole of Argylland Mute()012 Td ((]TJ 0 Tc 09. f.18/) /P << J 0 Tc 005 0 Tc

Opportunities and Challenges

Our geography—is a diverse mix: we are a council with islands and a highly rural areawith manysmalland remote communities often separated by water. Ensuring that people have access to the area to live, work, visit and do business, and that we can deliver key services to our communities, is one of the biggestchallenges that we work to overcome.

Growingour population

Attractingmore peopleto cometo live, work, visit and do businessin Argylland Bute is at the heart of everythingwe do. With more extremes than most of Scotland, we face increasing costs and challenges to deliver our services, particularly to older people, and alongside this we want to encourage more younger peopleto move to the areasothat our economycan grow.

Employment—developingeducation, skills and training to maximise opportunities for all and create a workforce which supports economic growth.

Sustainability

Ensuring sustainable uture by protecting the natural environmentand mitigating climate change.

Health

Improvinghealth and well being and reducing health in equalities.

Deprivation

ITc-0.001 Tavoqptottorofo)Ottijli A2005 OaTo (f)Thebirofo)@rstulstroiprovnvm Td [(s)-4 (pr)-1 agumsisfuturefD 17 >>

Our Vision and Values

Argyll and Bute Council is forwalloobking and ambitious, continuously improving our relationships wit partners, customers and employees to ensure that we deliver the right services, by the best people
the bestway. We havea

How the council works

At the heart of every one of Scotland's 32 councils, there are councillors working on behalf of their communities. In Argylland Bute, 36 councillors are elected to serve for a councilterm of four or five years (currently five year terms, and those elected in May 2022 will be expected to serve a five year term).

Argyll and Bute Council consists of elected members from different political parties as well as independent councillors who then form an administration to lead the council. Two members are appointedasthe Leaderand DeputeLeader to head the councilland the elected members appointed to the role of Provostand DeputeProvostake on the ceremonial and civicle adership functions.

ArgyllandButeCouncihasaConstitutionwhichsetsout how the counciloperatesandhow decisions are made. Councillors are responsible for the major policy decisions taken by the council including budget setting, approving key polices and ensuring that services are delivered in line with the priorities of the council and government direction, in order to improve the quality of life within the area and provide essentiabervices.

Thecouncilworksin partnershipwith other publicagencies across Argylland Bute, including NHSHighland, Police Scotland, Fire and Rescue Scotland, Highlands and Islands are many more. They come together as the Argyll and Bute Community Planning Partnership. There is an important focus on consultation, engagements crutiny, measurement of performance and o

Committees, Meetings and Decision Making

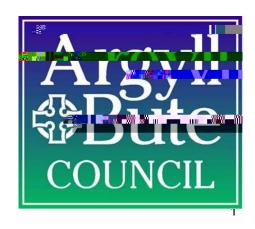

Thefull councilmeeting is a public meeting of all 36 councillors, where major strategies and policies of the council are debated and key decisions are made including scrutiny and oversight of other committees and the budget arrangements or the council.

There are also a number of principal committees which a selection of the councillors will sit on. The political management arrangementare usually determined by each new council and currently the include:

- PolicyandResourceSommittee
- CommunityServicesCommittee
- EnvironmentDevelopmentandInfrastructureCommittee
- PlanningProtectiveServicesandLicensingCommittee
- ArgyllandButeLicensingBoard
- Audit andScrutinyCommittee
- LocaNegotiatingCommittee(Education)
- EmployeeJointConsultativeCommittee
- AreaCommittees/BusinesDays(andAreaCommunityPlanningGroups)

Beneaththesecommitteesthere are also sub-committees to deal with specific ssues such as the Statutory Harbour Board.

At the time of publication, January 2022, all counciland committee business is being carried out on a virtual basis, using Skypefor Business and MS Teams ideo and teleconference technology Work is

TheRoleof a Councillor

Becoming councilloris a rewarding form of public service.

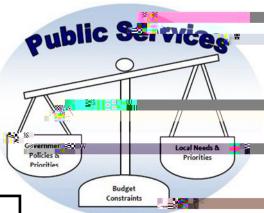

It requires a lot of commitment and hard work. Every day you will have to balance the needs and interestsof voters, the broadercommunity, your political party (if you are a member of one), interest groups and the council. This will make demands of your time on top of your own personal responsibilities of family, workplace and friends.

Most of the council's income comes from central government, so the council must work within fairly tight limits when setting budgets. As a result, during regular committee meetings, decisions are made which may take a great deal of time and attention.

Councillors also spend a great deal of time with their constituents and attend local bodies such as community councils, other local organisations and Community Planning Partnership meetings.

Findmore information and backgroundabout the role and responsibilities of a councillor and local government in Scotlandatal government: Councillors' roles, conduct and pay gov.scot(www.gov.scot)

What are the requirements to become a candidate?

Most people can stand for election to become a councillor, as long as you are:

- at least 18 yearsold on the day of your nomination, and
- either a Britishcitizen, an eligible Commonwealthcitizen, or a qualifying foreign national, and
- meet at leastone of the following four qualifications:
 - a. You are registered as a local government telefor the local authority area in which you wish to standon the day of your nomination.
 - b. You have occupied as owner or tenant any land or other premises in the local authority area during the wholeof the 12 months before the day of your momination.
 - c. Yourmain c.

What skillswill I need?

Thereare certainskills that Councillors should have, or pursue, in order to become effective representative and decision makers for the local community:

- Communicationandpresentationskillsto expressneedsof localresidents during meetingsandbecomea voicefor the council
- Interpersonabkillswhenmanagingsurgeriesandconversingwith the community
- Commitmenttowardsrepresentation of the electorate
- Decisiveguickthinker
- Maintainanobjective,

0 Td [(v)-0.6 (o)-2.(d)-3

Standingfor Election

Elections in Argyll and Bute are administebyothe Returning Officer for Argyll aboute, Pippa Milne (Chief Executive of Argyll and Bute Council) and Depute Returning Officer, David Logan (Headof Legaland RegulatorySupportServices) and the ElectionTeam, based within the council.

Thenominationprocess

Nearerto the time of an election, five to sixweeks before the date of an election (or byelection), the council will place adverts in local newspapers, the council website and outside council office building advising of the election, the vacancie available, and notifying interested parties/person where and when they can obtain a nomination pack.

Anyoneinterestedin becoming a candidate can be either nominated by their registered political party or can apply independently if not a member of a registered political party.

Thenominationpackcontainsa NominationFormwhichwill require to be completed by each individual wishing to stand for

Electionagents, campaigning and expenses

The candidate must appoint an election agent which will be done at the time of nomination, although the nomine ecan appoint him/herself for this position.

The election agent handles correspondence from the Returning Officer about the forthcoming election as well as handling the candidate's campaign expenses.

Election agents are entitled to attend the opening of postal votes, polling stations, the verification and the counting of votes and will be provided with information about this closer to the time.

In the context of the Covid 9 pandemic and any restrictions in place at the tithere will be guidance provided for everyone will be using a polling station or attending a count—this will be provided online and with packs where possible. Candidates may also wish to check with their political party Q, if applicable for any guidance in relation to campaigning and can vassing.

All candidates campaignmaterial must be in adherence o electoral, civil and criminal legislation concerning published material. Please consult the Elections Office for more information.

Following the election, each candidate is required by law to complete a statement of expenses to show how much money was spent towards their campaign. This must be completed and returned within 28 days of the declaration of the result.

Electionexpensesarealsoopento public inspection.

(N.B. Election campaign expenses are not reclaimable from the council.)

FrequentlyAskedQuestions

Docouncilors get training?

Yes.Trainingwill be provided becaused l councillors are

What support is there for councillors?

Dedicated support for elected members is provided by the Governanc team through Committee Support (who administer all council and committee meetings) and Member Services (who provide administrative support for councillors). Offe

Do councillors get paid?

Currentlyelectedcouncillors in Argylland Butereceivebasic remuneration of £18,604 per year (as at 1st April 202); this is normally reviewed by the Scottish Parliament each Aeaumber of members such as the Council Leader, Provost or other senior councillors who have "significant additional responsibilities" such as Policy Leads or Area Committee Chairperson will earn proportionatelymore.

Councillors will also be reimbursed on receipt of traveland subsistence expenses necessarily incurred during approved council duties.

theto Gdumwill

Detailsof all councillors'remunerationand expenses are published annually.

How much travel is involved?

Theamount of travel will depend on the level of responsibility held; for example the Leader and Policy Leads may require to travel to and

Are there rules on standards and ethics for councillors?

The Councillors National Code of Conducts et sout the expected standards of behaviour for Elected Members. A copy of the National Code of Conduct is provided to all councillors when they are elected.

It is also available at www.standardscommissions cotland.org.uk

EndNote

TheProtectionof Children

Contacts

If you would like to find out more about becoming a councillorand the election process please contact:

ElectionsOffice
Argyll and Bute Counkillmory
Lochgilphea&rgyll
PA318RT

Speakto the ElectionsTeam— 01546603264

Email: Elections@argybute.gov.uk

Web: www.argyll-bute.gov.uk/elections