11 New Belongings Seminar

Coram Voice have arranged a learning seminar as part of their New Belongings Programme. The seminar will be an opportunity to join the Coram Voice team and their care-experienced consultants to hear about care leavers' experiences during lockdown and the wider lessons from the New Belongings Programme. The seminar will examine how the Programme was established across the 8 local authorities, their use of the '

15 Child sexual abuse: the experience of black girls

NSPCC Learning has released a podcast discussing the absence of black girl's experiences of child sexual abuse in research and practice. The podcast discusses why the experiences of black girls is missing from the research and the impact that this has on policy and practice; key findings from research; and learning to improve practice and research. This episode contains quotes from research participants about their experiences which might be upsetting and
